MARKETPLACE

marketplace.procurementleaders.com

Navigating the software and services market is, for any business, a challenge – but one you can’t escape from. Who can help your team take the next step, what technologies should you be paying attention to – it’s a jungle. With that in mind, we’d like to welcome you to the inaugural Procurement Leaders Marketplace publication, here to help you on that journey. This PDF is a handy guide to the market, but it’s only dipping your toe in the water, compared to the depth of detail available on marketplace.procurementleaders.com.

Looking ahead, there’s never been a better time for procurement teams to make the case for investment in solutions and services to help them take on the multitude of challenges.

Use this guide to learn about the tools you need, and use the Marketplace itself to find more detail and more content from these providers to better understand their services and the topics they have expertise in.

For Marketplace, we’re excited to continue to add great businesses to our directories and to augment some of the services we offer to help make the right connection between buyer and vendor. Making good decisions requires combining the right information with the right instinct – we’ll provide the former, you provide the latter.
